

Empowering Situational Leaders™

One-Day Workshop | Singapore | March 20, 2020

Power: A Positive Driver of Influence

Empowering Situational Leaders™ is a practice-rich workshop that empowers your leaders to challenge any preconceived notions that "power" connotes something negative and discover its practical application and significance in the influence process.

Participants explore the research that validates the relevance of power in the workplace and the connection between effective leadership and the Key Three power bases: Legitimate, Referent and Expert power.

A comprehensive video-based case study provides the context for interactive skill building and peer coaching activities designed to help participants build and leverage their own power bases and become more effective leaders.

Objectives

Upon completion of this workshop, participants should be able to:

- Describe and identify the indicators of Legitimate, Referent and Expert power.
- Build and apply power bases to support their ability to effectively influence others.
- Help team members build and apply their own power bases.
- Identify areas for development through an analysis of the Power Perception Profile Self assessment results.
